Parade & fair return to West Sac on Oct. 3

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Organizers are gearing up again: the city's annual "Community Day Parade" and "Neighbors Festival" are only 10 days away.

One change this year is the parade location. Instead of following the traditional route down West Capitol, the parade organizers have opted to begin rotating the parade route every year among the city's north, south and business district regions. This year, the parade will be in the north area. It will kick off at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3.

"It will start at the old Lighthouse Golf Course parking lot on Douglas Street," said Irene Eklund, this year's parade chairperson for the Neighbors Fair organization. "That's where we'll be staging. It will go down Cummins Way and Sixth Street and end up at River Walk Park at 3rd Street."

Where is the best viewing spot? "Anywhere on Cummins," said Eklund, "such as the old senior center (on the 600-block)."

available at www.wsneighborsfair.com.

The parade is eclectic — with a heavy dose of local school children participating.

"We'll have about as many entries as we always have," said Eklund. "We have a good mix of schools, equestrians — the West Sacramento Trail Riders are riding, cheerleading groups, Westmore Oaks Elementary School has a new 7th and 8th grade band, the fire department will be there, and more."

This year's parade will have two "grand marshals." They will be local attorney Fidel Martinez and retired postal manager Ray Jones. Both are former mayors of West Sacramento, serving on the original city council when the city formed in 1987.

"The theme of the parade is 'West Sacramento: Our Heritage and Our Future,'" commented Eklund. "I think they're good representatives of our heritage and our past. They were both on the city council and have both been mayors. I think people sometimes forget how we got where we are."

The parade will end up on River Walk Park, a city parkway along the river near the ziggurat building and new CalSTRS tower north of the Tower Bridge.

That will also be the location of the traditional "Neighbors Fair," which will last from noon to 5 p.m. after the parade.

"There will be food (for sale), booths and entertainment," said Eklund. "We have three different bands scheduled, including headliner Lenny Williams. Also taking stage will be Savannah Blue and Rock for Kids."

The best reason to attend?

"It's free!" said Eklund. "It's one of the last free fairs other than the Yolo County Fair. It's free entertainment!"

Fidel Martinez, the former mayor, told the News-Ledger "it's an honor and pleasure to be asked" to be a grand marshal along with Ray Jones.

"There's a lot of young people who don't realize who their founding fathers were," he said. "Ray Jones and I are honored some people are still thinking of us."

Martinez and Jones served on the first city council. When he looks back on the over 20 years that have elapsed since that beginning, he says "I am happy with the progress of the city, but it is a mixed bag."

Martinez, 66, has lived here since he was two. He talked about a few of the things he is happy about since the city formed, and a few he is not excited about.

First two Yolo cases of West Nile

The Yolo County Health Department has confirmed the first two human cases of West Nile virus this year in Yolo County. Both cases were from Davis. The first is a male, in the 55-74 year age range. The second is a male in the 10-18 year age range. Both are recovering, said the County Health Department.

Although the numbers of cases are down this year, it doesn't decrease the potential seriousness of this disease," states Dr. Joseph Iser, Yolo County Health Officer and Director.

According to a press statement from Iser's office:

People typically develop symptoms between three and 14 days after they are bitten by an infected mosquito. Approximately 80 percent of people (about 4 out of 5) who are infected with West Nile virus will not show any symptoms at all. Up to 20 percent of people who become infected have symptoms such as fever, headache, body aches, nausea, vomiting, and sometimes swollen lymph glands or a skin rash on the chest, stomach, and back. Symptoms can last for as short as a few days, though even healthy

HIT & RUN

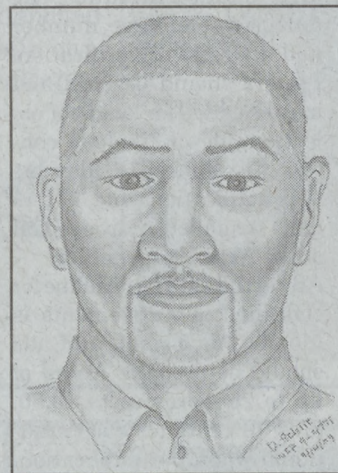

Police are looking for the driver of a vehicle involved in a "hit and run" accident Friday evening.

The vehicle injured a 22-year old bicyclist at about 8:20 p.m. near South River Road and 15th Street, said

Sergeant Trent Tyler of the West Sacramento Police Department. The suspect's vehicle may have been a dark SUV or truck.

Anyone with information is asked to call the police at 617-4900.

'Person of Interest': this woman is believed to have been in the car involved in a shooting on West Capitol Ave.

West Sacramento police have released sketches of two suspects believed connected with a shooting early the morning of Sept. 13 in West Sacramento.

After a fight at Ortega's West, 4205 West Capitol Avenue, a suspect apparently got into a vehicle and shot two men. One of the victims, 27-year old Jesus Cortes-Heredia of Sacramento, died after being shot in the neck. A second victim was injured.

The suspects may have been in a red or burgundy SUV — possibly a Ford Expedition. Their vehicle was believed to have been hit in the rear by gunfire from a security guard at the scene who returned fire after the shooting.

Based on witness accounts, police believe the male suspect was the shooter and the female was a passenger and is now a "person of interest" in the case.

Anyone with information is asked to call the police at 617-4900.

110-story climb is a memorial

West Sac firefighters display the names of fallen from FDNY on 9/11

Off-duty firefighters and Engine 44's crew from the West Sacramento Fire Department were among the 343 region-wide firefighters participating in a memorial

"stair climb" in Sacramento on Sept. 11.

The event honored the firefighters who died responding to the 9/11 attack in 2001 in New York.

At the memorial, the participants each wore the name of a fallen FDNY (Fire Department of New York) firefighter on their "turnout jacket" and climbed Sacramento's Renaissance Building staircase four times. The cumulative 110 floors represented the height of New York's World Trade Center, destroyed in the terrorist attack with emergency responders and citizens in it.

Friday's ceremony ended with the placement of each FDNY firefighter's name in a model of the "twin towers" of the World Trade Center, and a bell was rung in honor of each firefighter.

Editor's note: Daryl is on vacation this week. Below is one of his favorite columns from the past.

Have you ever noticed how human beings of all ages can get incredibly attached to the strangest things? For instance, one December when I was in my early 20s and living in an apartment, I purchased the most perfect Christmas tree God ever created, decorated it with loving care, and bragged about it to anyone who would listen. Much to my surprise, when the holiday season was finally over, I simply could not bring myself to throw it away. Instead, I stuck it in a hall closet and for months I got immense pleasure out of coming home from work, hanging up my jacket, and experiencing a little bit of Christmas all over again. It was actually late summer before my nosy landlady finally discovered my little secret, angrily classified it as a fire hazard, and informed me in writing that either I or it had to go. And although my once beautiful Christmas tree was pretty droopy by then and had lost most of its needles, I still found it very difficult to toss it into the dumpster.

In Vietnam in 1969, I was the only guy I knew in the entire First Infantry Division who carried his old high school baseball glove with him on every mission. I just attached it on my belt and although it took up some space where I was supposed to have an extra ammo pouch, it somehow made me feel safer and closer to home. And I can still remember towards the end of my tour how depressed I was when it finally just more or less rotted away from all the heat and humidity.

By Daryl Fisher

For years, I had these half-dozen or so gaudy tie-dye shirts (same pattern, different colors) which I had bought in the late 60s and wore for approximately a decade after they had gone out of style. They finally got so threadbare I had to stop wearing them, but I still haven't completely forgiven my wife for secretly removing them from my closet in the dead of night and throwing them away.

All my kids were extremely attached to the old stuffed animals which relatives and friends had given them when they were young. My daughter had at least two-dozen of them all by herself, and my youngest son wasn't far behind. They were often strewn all over the house and even when someone would make an effort to pick them up, their final resting place usually took up a good portion of two closets. And it was almost psychologically impossible to collect the darn things up and take them to the goodwill store, much less the dump. I mean, they all had their own names. There was Grover, and Rocket, and Michaelangelo, and Furry, and Leonardo, and Dino, and Cruiser, and those are just the ones I can remember. And when I once tried to sell a few of them at a garage sale, my kids almost disowned me.

"How could you possibly want to sell Rocket for 50 cents?" my young daughter screamed at me. Then she dramatically added, "What am I worth to you, two bucks?"

Anyway, I think I've probably inherited most of my weird attachments from my mother's side of the family. My granny used to pile her house high with countless jars of assorted canned vegetables, fruits and jams. A person could have eaten around the clock for decades and never made a dent in all of her canned foods. And my mother used to use any spare closet space she had to collect rolls and rolls of toilet paper. She would buy them by the carload when they were on sale, ever fearful that she or the store might run out. I'm pretty sure her behavior had something to do with growing up in the Great Depression when every home in her little farming community had its own outhouse and one got his or her TP by tearing out pages of a Sears and Roebuck catalog.

The family gold medal for irrational attachments, however, goes to my wife. No matter how hard she tries, she simply cannot bring herself to part with used boxes. That's right, old boxes. She diligently collects everyone in sight under the guise that she will someday use them to give or send people Christmas and birthday presents. Big and small, long and tall, fat and skinny, they're everywhere I look. In the closets, under all the beds, out in the backyard shed, and in countless large lawn bags stacked up in the garage. For a time, I actually bought into her reasoning. But it finally dawned on me that we could celebrate every family Christmas and relative's birthday from now until doomsday and still have plenty of boxes in reserve.

And when I finally started gathering some of them up and hauling them away, you should have seen the scene. In fact, it was almost as bad as the one I made what that old witch of a landlady of mine tried to drag my beloved nine-month old Christmas tree out of my apartment closet on a 105 degree August day in 1973.

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

Don't look now, but guess who's in first place in the NFC West Division. If you guessed the 49ers, you're absolutely correct. OK, there is no need to adjust your reading glasses or turn the newspaper right side up, it's a fact, and the Niners are playing well and have won their first two games in 2009 season.

The 49ers are now enjoying their new found look on top of the West Division and if they can pull off another upset win on the road next Sunday in Minnesota they could return to Candlestick Park with three wins and the prospect of going 4-0 because the Rams will be in town on October 4th.

OK, let's not jump the gun. Let's get back to the reality of the 49ers' season. They are playing well but things can go south real easy in the NFL. The 49ers, who won their home opener 23-10 against their division rival Seattle Seahawks, quietly impress the football world with their solid play.

But for now, or should I say on Sunday, it was the Frank Gore running show that thrilled the 49ers faithful fans. Gore made up for his lack luster first game performance against Arizona by rushing for 207 yards, which included 80 and 79 yard touchdown runs, and he also added another 39 yards from screen pass receptions. The running back seemed almost impossible to stop especially after hitting in the holes quickly and then turning on the after burners, leaving a trail of Seahawk feathers all the way to the end zone!

The Niners' defense was outstanding holding the Seahawks to only 66 yards rushing and some late fourth quarter passing miles they allowed to kill the clock. The Niners offense can put you to sleep but quarterback Shaun Hill improved to 6-0 as a starter at Candlestick Park and is 9-3 overall. Hill threw for only 144 yards but who needs to throw the ball when you have Frank Gore!

The 49ers are still waiting for their first round pick, Michael Crabtree, to come to his senses and sign the 5-year - $20 million dollar deal with $16 million of that chump change guaranteed. He wants $23 million and now the 49ers are accusing the New York Jets of tampering with their prize pick. Crabtree must sign with the 49ers before November 17th or he will not be eligible to play this season.

NFL News

The Oakland Raiders (1-1) recovered from their devastating loss last week to the Chargers to hang on to a nail biting 13-10 win in Kansas City. The Chiefs, who are probably the worst team in the NFL, having lost 11 of their last 12 games, really made the Raiders work for their first win. Matter of fact the Chiefs last win was a 20-13 victory over the Raiders in Oakland on November 30, 2008.

The Raiders' quarterback, JaMarcus Russell, who couldn't hit the side of barn door from 10-feet away, was just awful, missing his first 15 of 18 pass attempts and ended up 7 for 24 for a measly 107 passing yards.

So how did the Raiders manage to win a game where their opponents had over 400 total yards while the Silver and Black Attack managed only 166 total net yards? Well, luck had something to do with it but it was the Raiders defense which was on the field for almost 40 minutes and under constant pressure that saved the day. Also, let's not forget safety Michael Huff, who had two timely interceptions and did I mention lots of Luck!

Next week, the Raiders (-3 ½) will host the Denver Broncos (1:15 p.m.ch.13) with the winner of the game moving into first place in the NFL's weakest division.

Aztec's Picks

Aztec's "College Lick" Alabama covered the 33-points last week over North Texas and Aztec the dog won with the 49ers and Raiders but lost with the Cowboys and Dolphins to finish the week 3-2 and now stands at 4-6 this season.

The "College Lick of the Week" is Michigan (-19) over Indiana and in the NFL, the Lions (+7 ½) will win their first game since Dec. 23, 2007. Detroit has lost 19 straight games and nine in a row at home but the Lions will prey on the Redskins

River City High's cross country running team participated in its first meet of the season last Thursday at Elk Grove Park. Highlights included: Brianna Luna took second in the girls' j.v., a half-second behind Antelope; Rebekah Haworth placed third in the girls' j.v.; Amanda Rodriguez placed sixth in girls' varsity and Kai Hinton earned 10th in the boys' varsity. Help for adults with trouble reading

The Yolo County Board of Supervisors on Sept. 15 declared September as "Adult Literacy Month."

"About one-fifth of all adults in the state of California are functionally illiterate," said Michael McGowan, chairman of the board of supervisors. "It is estimated that 16 percent of Yolo County adults are lacking in basic literacy skills."

McGowan presented the "Adult Literacy Month" board resolution to representatives of "Yolo Reads," a program charged with helping some of those adults. "Yolo Reads" is a Yolo County Library program. It matches volunteer tutors with those adults who want to improve their reading and writing skills. The program is funded partly by a grant from the state library system. Partners of "Yolo Reads" include county departments (including the departments of probation, social services & employment, and health) and local community agencies. "Yolo Reads" started up in 2007.

"The volunteers provided over 1,300 hours of volunteer service in the first two year of this program," reported McGowan.

Heather Bratt coordinates this adult literacy program.

"The (state library) grant allows us to provide services to Yolo County residents who want to improve their reading and writing skills," said Bratt. "By pairing them one-on-one with volunteer tutors, we can help them focus specifically on their goals - whether it's writing a resume, improving their computer skills, reading to their child or helping their children with their homework."

Rob Gonzales is a retired employee of the county probation department who now serves as both an advisor to "Yolo Reads" and as one of its tutors. He regularly drives from his home in Woodland to West Sacramento, where he helps teach a "Yolo Reads" client.

"There are a lot of barriers to adults getting these services," Gonzales said, adding that some of them are simply "embarrassed."

"But they're motivated once they get started!" said Gonzales.

Adults who want help with literacy, or who want to volunteer for the program, may call (530) 666-8019 or visit the county library website at www.yolocountylibrary.org (go to "Library Services" and "Reading and writing for adults").

complete shuttle schedule, go to www.yolobus.com.

Vaccinations will be provided for any Yolo County resident over six months of age on a first-come, first-served basis. Both traditional injectable vaccine and FluMist (a nasal spray) vaccine will be available. Informational materials about the vaccine in English, Russian, and Spanish will be provided at the clinics, and interpreters will be available on site.

Seasonal influenza is responsible for approximately 36,000 deaths per year. Those at highest risk for severe disease include young children, elderly people, and those with weak immune systems due to disease or pregnancy.

"Not only is this an important public service to help protect those who are at risk for seasonal flu, but these clinics are also a great opportunity for the Health Department, along with all its partners, to prepare to provide vaccine for large numbers of people when Novel H1N1 flu vaccine becomes available," states Dr. Joseph Iser, Yolo County Health Department Director-Health Officer.

The Yolo Health Department expects to provide some clinics for "H1N1" flu vaccinations

Funds to help fight 'ID theft'

From the County of Yolo

Yolo County District Attorney Jeff Reisig announced last week that the Yolo County District Attorney's Office has been chosen to receive $21,422 in funding to be used for high tech means to investigate and prosecute cases of identity theft -- particularly those where computers are involved.

This is the third year that the Yolo County D.A.'s office has received such a grant. The funding has purchased computer forensic equipment and on-going training.

The population of Yolo County is 199,066, 20 percent of which are over 65 years of age, said the D.A.'s office. Over the last year, the office's "elder abuse unit" handled 99 cases, many of which involved seniors who were the victims of identity theft.

"The most vulnerable segments of our population are the seniors and the university students," said a press statement from the District Attorney. "The students approach life with a very casual attitude and the seniors are a prime target for fraudulent activities because of their misplaced trust. UC Davis students and senior citizens make up a substantial segment of Yolo County's population. Our outreach presentations have reached well over 1,000 citizens and have dealt with issues pertaining to the ease with which an individual's identity can be compromised. We hope to expand our presentations to reach more of the young adults in the county, including college students."

In the past, all identity theft and intellectual property theft related computer and cell phone forensic requests were sent to the Sacramento High Tech Task Force for evaluation and processing. This process has been problematic and very slow due to a large case backlog and dwindling law enforcement resources, said the D.A.'s office.

Since 2008 the Yolo County D.A.'s Office has been able to accept computer evidence from all of the local Law Enforcement agencies in Yolo County. This evidence includes computers, cell phones and digital cameras.

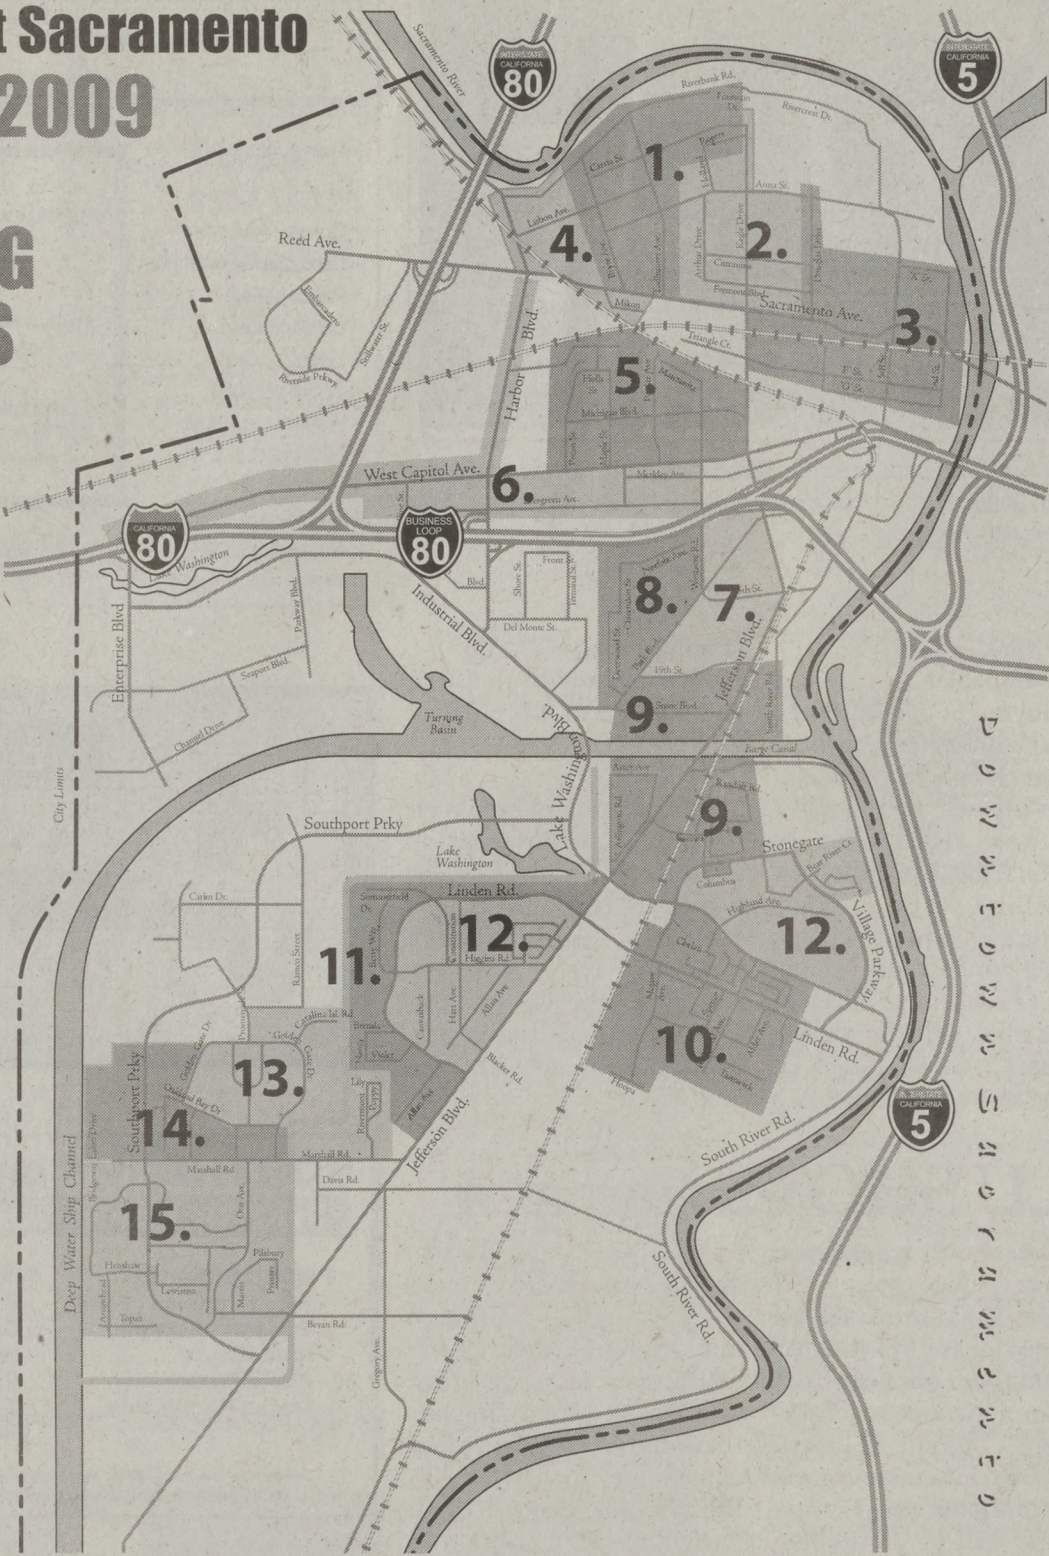

City of West Sacramento Revised 2009 STREET SWEEPING SERVICES

Due to lower revenues to the City coupled with forced reductions on local governments by the State, the City is reducing residential street sweeping to one time per month effective October 1, 2009.

The City will make every effort to adhere to this schedule. On the day when your street is scheduled for sweeping, the city requests that you not park any vehicles on the street to enable the sweeper to do a thorough job.

We will not sweep on Holidays. Your sweeping day will be adjusted to the earliest possible day.

Thanks for your cooperation in helping to keep our city streets clean and safe.

THE POVERTY LINE

It separates nearly 13 million children in America from hope. Life below the poverty line means barely hanging on. Every day is a struggle for one in six children in America. There are many ways you can make a difference. Together, we can break the cycle of poverty -- for good. Will you help?

"I love West Sacramento. I was here before the port was built, and before the freeway was built – when West Capitol Avenue was really the road you took."

He said he is pleased with the city's parks & recreation, police and fire services.

"I love the new city hall. Now we have the Sacramento City College going in across from that – another prime addition to the city. I love the River Cats – I am so glad we got the River Cats."

What regrets does he have for West Sacramento?

"I'm not happy with the 'strong mayor' system, because I like seeing the individual council members make appointments to commissions (and not the mayor). I'm not happy with the loss of the Lighthouse Marina project, the failure to buy the Hotel El Rancho (which has since become a Buddhist monastery on West Capitol). I don't think we need the (Lower Northwest Interceptor) sewer project under our town, and I don't think we needed to obtain the port because it's been a negative."

"We've lost a lot of that small-town ambience and atmosphere," added Martinez. "That was inevitable. I don't know whether or not the people of West Sacramento still have a chance to talk to their council members. Bill Kristoff, Ray Jones and myself (on the first city council) all had an open-door policy. When Greg Potnick was elected, he had an open-door policy. I don't know if (current councilmembers) still do that."

What will he ride in the parade?

"It doesn't matter, as long as it's not a horse."

people have become sick for several weeks. About one in 150 people infected with West Nile virus will develop severe illness. The severe symptoms can include high fever, headache, neck stiffness, stupor, disorientation, coma, tremors, convulsions, muscle weakness, vision loss, numbness, and paralysis. These symptoms may last several weeks, and neurological effects may be permanent. People over the age of 50, diabetics, and those who suffer from hypertension are more likely to develop serious symptoms of West Nile virus if they do get sick and should take special care to avoid mosquito bites.

"Prevention and protection are still important," adds Dr. Iser. "By making weekly checks of their yards and draining standing water, residents can help cut down on mosquito breeding areas. Precautions such as wearing protective clothing and using bug repellents that contain DEET or other effective ingredients will reduce the risk of mosquito bites."

The best way to prevent West Nile virus infection is to prevent the bite of an infected mosquito. The Yolo County Health Department recommends following the "7

D's" to decrease the risk of mosquito bites:

DRAIN any standing water that may produce mosquitoes.

DAWN and DUSK are times to avoid. These are the times when mosquitoes are most active.

DRESS appropriately by wearing long sleeves and pants when outdoors.

DEFEND yourself against mosquitoes by using an effective insect repellent, such as DEET, Picaridin or KBR 3023, Oil of Lemon Eucalyptus or PMD, or IR 3535. Make sure you follow all label directions!

DOOR and window screens should be in good working condition. This will prevent mosquitoes from entering your home.

DISTRICT local mosquito district personnel are available to address any mosquito problem you may be experiencing by calling 1-800-429-1022.

Diamond Notes

The baseball season is coming to a close really quickly for Giants fans especially after the Dodger hitters put on a hitting clinic against the Giants pitching staff. The Giants only managed one win in their three games against Los Angeles this weekend while the Colorado Rockies regained their playoff stride winning their series against Arizona. The Rockies have increased their wild card lead over the G-Men to 4 games, with only 12 games remaining in the season.

Speaking of "it's over": the River Cats season was ended abruptly by Memphis with the Redbirds sweeping the first three games of their best of five series. The River Cats seemed to run out of gas but it's important to point out that the Redbirds finished the 2009 season with a season high six consecutive wins, all in the post season, and they won 12 of their last 14 ball games!

Between the Ropes

In Las Vegas on Saturday, Australian Michael Katsidis (26-2, 21 KO's) won the WBC title by a split decision over Woodland native, Vicente Escobedo (21-2, 13 KO's). Vicente battled 12 rounds* with Katsidis but ended up a little short on the score cards. Escobedo, who had won his last 12 fights also lost out on an opportunity to fight Juan Manuel Marquez

Sheriff's patrol car collides with Honda

A Yolo Sheriff's Department patrol car collided with another vehicle Saturday night near Winters, injuring a deputy and four other people. The California Highway Patrol is investigating the incident, and believes the other vehicle pulled into the path of the patrol car near County Roads 89 and 27.

Two people from the other vehicle, a Honda Civic, were taken by helicopter to Sacramento hospitals with "moderate to major" injuries, according to the CHP. Two other passengers from the Civic and Deputy Frank Freno were treated for minor injuries at Woodland Memorial Hospital.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEW BY DNA SMITH

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" — Released in 1937, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was the first feature-length animated film. The mixture of comedy, melodrama and musical numbers has served as a formula for virtually every Disney animated film for nearly three-quarters of a century.

Since we all know the story, let's get to the nitty-gritty: the packaging. This release comes in a wide variety of packages. You can get just the two-disc set for about $25 — which includes the film and a bunch of archival material. There also is a three-disc set that comes in a box that looks like the one the evil queen gives to the woodsman to bring back Snow White's heart. This edition also includes picture cards of all the dwarfs, and a massive hard-bound book filled with archival pictures for about $150. And finally, you can get the two-disc set in a nifty hat-bag-shaped tote filled with plush dolls of all the dwarfs for about $80.

"Anvil: The Story of Anvil" — This is a great little documentary about a Canadian metal band that's funny, heart-breaking, and yes ... heartwarming. Anvil started out in the '80s during metal's heyday. And while the band opened for some top acts and released a couple of decent albums, because of mismanagement and a host of other unfortunate Spinal-Tapish turns, the band just couldn't quite crack the leather ceiling to become Rock Gods. Now, 20 years later, Anvil still hasn't given up and is trying once again to make it in the business. And since you've never heard of these guys, I guess you know how this movie ends.

"How To Be A Man/How To Be A Woman" — These are two separate DVD releases, but are essentially the same thing. Both are collections of educational shorts from the 1940s through the 1980s instructing our nation's youth on how to be proper examples of their respective genders. From sex education and hygiene to how to make a sandwich, these films are pure comedy gold.

"In Great Waters"
by Kit Whitfield
(Del Rey, $15)
Reviewed by Ealish Waddell

The setting is England, the time not too long ago, but there is a major difference between this world and our own: Humans not only cover the land, but also inhabit the seas. Interbred royal families control the nations of Europe, but these dynasties are at risk from illegitimate half-deepsman children, born illegally and raised secretly, in hiding.

Henry is one such child, a feral waif abandoned by his mother and almost immediately adopted as a pawn of power. Anne, on the other hand, is a born princess finding the role for which she's trained all her life falling apart around her. It will fall to these two to change the fate of their country, and to find a new way of reconciling the deepsmen and the landsmen to one another.

This mermaid world is not about singing fish and dudes with tridents. It is savage, very close to the natural rhythms. Deepsmen lives are harsh, unsentimental and often brutally short, yet not without beauty.

Some of the book's best passages occur in the opening pages, describing Henry's transition from the sensual, immediate undersea world to a very different life on land. Things as common as straight walls and corners are bizarre and frightening, and the simple act of moving around in an environment that doesn't catch him when he falls is a completely new and often painful experience. His adjustment is as much conceptual as physical.

Henry is not exactly a pleasant guy, but he still manages to be sympathetic, a child of two worlds, unwanted by either but determined to force his way in. Anne is easier to relate to, and watching her grow a backbone over the course of the book is highly satisfying. Between the convincing characters and the well-built world they inhabit, "In Great Waters" is an excellent choice for readers looking for a smart, engaging fantasy read.

We used breaded nopalitos as a crunchy topping for this unusual Fried Cactus Salad. Enjoy this taste of Mexico, and try nopalitos in your recipes to give your dinner a South-of-the-Border flair!
